"Ah Malbec, beautiful fruity opulent Malbec. An underrated linchpin for many outstanding Aussie red wines but which often strikes a blow for the underdog. In fact, more winemakers are finally using Malbec as a straight varietal, and not before time. I have always liked this Malbec, which is sourced from South Australia's Langhorne Creek, where the combination of climate, soils and regionality seem so suited to the highly drinkable nature of the variety. There's a really engaging perfumed blue fruit character here that reveals on the nose. This plus a juicy palate screams Malbec, before delivering with a soft and supple pure expression of fruit."

Dont say we didn't warn you... every glass will jump out at you with smells and tastes of fresh macerated Blueberries, raspberries, Mulberry and Violets with a hint of muddled mint. Yum!

"Its amazing! Blueberry pie and ice cream! I can feel it running down my throat!"
